

Murder Mystery Instructions

READ OUT LOUD

I am the lead Detective at the Rolla Police Department and I am glad you all happened to be on campus, today of all days. As a part of the internationally recognized investigative team (READ TEAM NAME), we have invited you to assist our investigation of a crime that is no less than the high crime of MURDER!!

The victim was found on this very campus! He is a visiting scientist at S&T and holds a Doctorate in the field of Biochemical Engineering. His name was Dr. Boddy (pronounced Doctor Body) and was an international expert in his field.

Dr. Boddy was found at 5:00 AM this morning by a campus cleaning crew.. Dr. Boddy was well educated, well published, tall, muscular, handsome and well dressed; but now he is very dead.

Because of COVID-19 environment, the building was locked and you can only enter the building with your ID which is logged in the system. The people who came into the building last night are now the prime suspects, which I have included.

The police department is doing all they can but you and your team can help bring this murderer to justice. You will be asked to go to different places on campus, interrogate the suspects and perform tasks to earn your clues along the way. They might seem silly but I assure you, there is no task too small, if it helps us find this despicable person and bring them to justice.

I will be at the police station and will be happy to share with you the evidence that I have gathered. Good Luck!!

Sincerely,

The Lead Detective of the Rolla Police Department
